Abstract: As an important backbone force to promote the vigorous development of our country in the future, college students are not only practitioners of the core values of socialism, but also inheritors of national rejuvenation. This requires colleges and universities to give full play to their educational role, to be able to find a better cultivation direction in combination with specific actual conditions, so that students can achieve more long-term development in the context of international vision. From a variety of perspectives, this article seeks students to continue to improve their ideological and moral cultivation under the guidance of socialist core values, and in the process of establishing correct political ideology and ideas, they have grown into a pillar of support for socialism and the leadership of the Communist Party.

Keywords: Training countermeasures; international perspective; higher education; socialist core values

While the Eighteenth National Congress made clear requirements for the core values of socialism, my country's international status is also constantly improving. In the current era of increasingly fierce international competition, more and more ideological trends have emerged one after another, and it has brought a big impact on the thinking consciousness and values of young students. Therefore, under the background of internationalization, colleges and universities need to realize the importance of helping students establish correct ideological values, and implement the cultivation of socialist core values according to the actual situation. Only in this way can we cultivate high-quality talents in the new era that meet the needs of national development, and in the process of enhancing international competitiveness, enable our country to always stand up in the international wave.

1. Promote national culture and enrich campus cultural content

The core values are closely related to the country's development process and national culture, and in the process of continuous development and innovation, they are closely integrated with the development of the times. Therefore, in order to implement the socialist core values of students, colleges and universities need to root cultivation in their own national culture, social development and historical process, so that students can continue to internalize excellent national culture while shouldering the burden Take responsibility for promoting culture. The international perspective background enables each country to continuously develop its own core social values, and hopes to cultivate high-quality talents that can promote the country's future vigorous development. The Eighteenth National Congress of the Communist Party of China passed the clarification of the connotation of the core values of socialism, and gave higher education a specific direction for cultivating talents in the new era.

First of all, colleges and universities need to implement the cultivation goal of promoting national culture, so that students can strive to become a practitioner of socialist core values in the process of constantly improving their cultural self-confidence.

Secondly, the school cannot ignore the enrichment of campus cultural content. Through the introduction of national culture, a more culturally valuable campus cultural resource is established. With the support of Internet technology, a network cultural platform is established to enable students to have a variety of content, In the theme activities with rich expressions and positive energy, the core values of socialism are effectively improved.

Finally, colleges and universities should pay attention to the power of the masses, encourage students to fully mobilize the enthusiasm of promoting national culture, and strive to build and enrich the cultural content of the campus under the guidance of the spirit of the times, and continue to enhance the ideological and moral level and value of students In the course of the concept, a more comprehensive development has been achieved.

2. Do a good job in scientific transformation and improve the cultivation mechanism

The background of the international perspective requires that the institutions of higher learning themselves have a positive influence on the values of the students. Therefore, it is necessary to carry out the work of service transformation, reform work, and the establishment of a socialist core value campus culture. Students' correct ideological and moral cultivation plays a promoting role.

First of all, colleges and universities need to implement the values of cultivating students into the talent cultivation mechanism, and formulate corresponding rules and regulations based on the actual situation of the school. It enables students to regulate their own behaviors under the guidance of the system regardless of their behavior consciousness or value concept, and establish correct core socialist values in the process of subtlety.

Secondly, colleges and universities need to extend the content of the cultivation mechanism, introduce the cultivation goals of the values of students, schools and teachers into it, and in the process of continuously improving the value system, let people get better under the guidance of correct values development of.

Finally, colleges and universities can expand publicity channels and set up celebrity lists for key teachers and outstanding students who meet the requirements of the core values of socialism, and serve as a good role model. At the same time, the school also needs to introduce the requirements of ideology, ethics, dedication and hard work into the content of the cultivation mechanism, so that students can make subtle suggestions

3. Reforming cultivation methods to promote students' overall development

Many colleges and universities are still using the old ideological and moral cultivation model in their cultivation activities, which leads students to not only have a difficult learning attitude in a passive learning environment, but also seriously hinder socialism in the process of inhibiting their individualized development Effective implementation of core values cultivation. This requires the school to be able to combine the actual situation of the school and find a more innovative cultivation method in the international perspective, so that in the process of enabling students to develop better, they can grow into high-quality talents who shoulder the responsibility of achieving national rejuvenation.

On the one hand, schools need to improve backward teaching methods, give full play to the enthusiasm of cultivating the first classroom by respecting the dominant position of students in the classroom, and require teachers to effectively integrate the core values of socialism with classroom teaching content. This can not only help students in the process of completing the knowledge learning, to achieve the value of discernment, diligence and dedication, but also to achieve more comprehensive development under the guidance of thinking consciousness.

On the other hand, practice is an important supporting force to ensure the smooth development of teaching work. Therefore, in order to make students become loyal practitioners of the core values of socialism, colleges and universities need to actively carry out various practical activities to enable students to establish in continuous exercise The family moral concept of respecting the old and loving the young; the moral concept of life that is honest, trustworthy and helpful; the academic moral concept of daring to explore and study hard, and the social moral concept of loving the motherland and spreading the national culture. This enables all aspects of student life to be closely integrated with the core values of socialism. IVConclusion

The rapid development of the times has not only brought new vitality to our country, but also ushered us in to varying degrees of challenges. As fresh blood for the future development of our country, how to make students always maintain purity and make a strong contribution to the future development of the country has become a problem that many colleges and universities need to solve. Therefore, in the context of the current development of international perspectives, schools need to actively implement the cultivation of socialist core values, through a variety of ways to help students under the guidance of the correct value concept, can always safeguard national interests and national interests, and shoulder the responsibility to achieve national The important task of renaissance is to promote the vigorous development of our country in the future.
